THE END IS THE BEGINNING

It doesn't matter whether you are anchored down in Anchorage or comfortably nestled in Nashville, 2021 has been a difficult year no matter where you are. COVID-19 and its variants are to blame, of course, with deleterious effects that have been far reaching and generally unrelenting. In addition to all the human pain and tragedy the virus has caused, businesses have suffered numerous delays and setbacks in their day-to-day operations. Among the many industries affected are trading card manufacturers.

As with the previous year, a number of trading card sets scheduled for release were pushed back, sometimes more than once. A few titles on the drawing board were abandoned completely. Topps even lost its baseball and WWE licenses this year for reasons other than COVID. Still, most companies generally trudged forward, shipping product whose quality, at least, remained unaffected by the ever advancing invisible nemesis.

With 2021 beginning to wrap, collectors can rejoice in the trading card sets that actually did manage to hit the market. 5Finity, for one, remained active, publishing the provocative Coffin Comics Brian Pulido's Hellwitch Sketch Card Series early in the year. Fright Rags kept the horror high, too, with George A. Romero's Day of the Dead, the third in their Living Dead series, and one that became an instant sellout. Apparently, zombies still rule.

More spookiness came from Attic Card Company with their release of Nosferatu, a set based on the seminal 1922 German Expressionistic film classic. What makes this product truly unique is the added involvement of RJF Image/Design and RRParksCARDS, both of whom contributed to make this Kickstarter presentation a toothsome triumph.

Perna Studios was in a Halloween-like mood when it added Spellcaster 3: Dark Forces to its growing assemblage of bewitching titles. Magic Marker Art supplied the GPK inspired Nintendopes Series 2 while Dynamic Forces offered the sword and sorcery of Red Sonja: She Devil. Unstoppable Cards confirmed the accuracy of their name with Space 1999 Series 4. SideKick Media landed their Mars Attacks: Uprising set and Fascinating Cards educated collectors with United States Congress. From RRParksCARDS came a simply-titled card set I still can't explain—Series 4, along with a number of Halloween titles.

Some larger companies also kept the momentum going throughout the pandemic. Topps blasted off with Star Wars Holocron, Star Wars Chrome Galaxy, WWE NXT and the uber popular The Mandalorian Series 2. Rittenhouse Archives showcased the Paramount+ show, Star Trek Picard Season 1 and HBO's GOT with Game of Thrones—Iron Anniversary Series 1. Upper Deck shipped the oft-delayed James Bond Villains & Henchmen while collectors marveled at their Marvel Ages, Marvel X-Men and the high end Marvel Black Diamond.

Since the year still isn't over manufacturers have one more shot at shipping product to stores, dealers and direct to collectors in time for the holiday season. January follows with the hope of a brighter year and a chance to finally arrest this sinister disease. NSU

TOPPS GARBAGE PAIL KIDS SERIES ONE EXPLODES AT AUCTION

Goldin Auctions September event featured an unopened series one box of Topps iconic property, Garbage Pail Kids, certified by Baseball Card Exchange. The gavel came down at $28,800, including the buyers premium, after 22 bids were placed. The 48-pack box introduced “Adam Bomb,” who has become the face of the Garbage Pail Kids franchise, along with starting the wave of Garbage Pail Kids releases that continue to be popular to this day. A fantastic piece of Topps history!

FUNKO RELEASES MARVEL ETERNALS POPS WITH EXCLUSIVE TRADING CARDS

Entertainment Earth has teamed up with Funko to release a series of twelve Funko Pops that come with an exclusive trading card, including chase versions. One pack comes with each Eternals figure and there are twelve figures to collect—Ikaris, Thena, Dane Whitman, Sersi, Ajak, Gilgamesh, Druig, Makkari, Kingo, Phastos, Sprite, and Kro.

Each figure comes in a box with a wrap around window for clear viewing of the enclosed pop, along with a pack containing one card featuring an Eternals character. There are three different levels of cards, regular, rare holographic and super rare holographic. The foil wrapper is black with blue highlights and features the Eternals logo.

Entertainment Earth previously released Pops with exclusive cards for Avengers Endgame and DC's Birds of Prey.

Horrible Kids Skateboards

After a two year COVID-19 hiatus, the iconic Philly Non-Sports Card Show returned on October 16th and 17th with a great crowd at their new venue, the Greater Philadelphia Expo Center at Oaks, Pennsylvania.

Collectors attending were treated to a number of promo cards, including a special Mars Attacks card, which was randomly inserted in packs given out with admission. Several new dealers, as well as long established ones, filled the show floor, offering new releases as well as vintage cards. Manufacturers Cryptozoic Entertainment and Rittenhouse Archives were in attendance, each distributing promo cards. Cryptozoic Entertainment had a spin the wheel and win a prize, offering premium cards from past sets. Rittenhouse Archives had a great display of upcoming card releases, including Twilight Zone and Doctor Who Series 11 & 12 Trading Cards.

Artists Lily Mercado, Smokin'Joe, Robert Jimenez, David Gross, Mark Pingitore, and Laura Inglis were all in attendance. Garbage Pail Kids' Adam Bomb was there live, too, and available for photo opportunities. Just don't push that big red button!

Everyone was happy to see friends old and new. All were glad to finally get back to attending the show and adding new items to their collections. A Card Talk gathering was held on Sunday morning with a presentation by Keith Dennis representing Cryptozoic Entertainment, with prizes distributed to collectors. Make plans to attend the spring show on May 21st and May 22nd of 2022!

FREEDOMS WAR WITH PSA DIE-CUT TANKS SELLS FOR $2,761

In a Lelands September 25, 2021 auction, a tough 1950 Topps Freedom's War complete set, an early Topps issue, achieved a final auction price of $2,761.20, including a buyer's premium of 20%. The set describes the involvement of the allies in the Korean War, and the set consists of 203 cards, issued with tan or gray backs. Notably in this auction was the inclusion of all seven die-cut tank cards, numbered from 97 to 103, which are scarce. The tank cards also came as solid cards with no die-cuts. One tank card, number 97, the M-7 Howitzer Motor Carriage die-cut, has the distinction of being the highest graded PSA tank die-cut, grading out at PSA Mint 9, while two others achieved a grade of PSA Near-mint to Mint 8. These cards are hard to find in any grade, so the standing of these examples is truly a non-sport rarity.

SUPER7 LAUNCHES MARS ATTACKS CARD INSPIRED ACTION FIGURES

Action figure manufacturer Super7 has released three figures based on scenes from Topps 1962 classic Mars Attacks set, adding a cool aspect for Mars Attacks collectors. Each 3.75 inch figure is contained on a backer card that features art from an original Mars Attacks trading card. A Martian soldier depicts card #1, The Invasion Begins, an earth soldier with exposed innards represents card #19, Burning Flesh, and a Martian soldier and a ray blasted dog mimics card #36, Destroying a Dog. Take me to your leader for these Mars Attacks figures!

SUICIDE SQUAD CHARACTERS INSPIRE HAIR COLOR TRADING CARDS

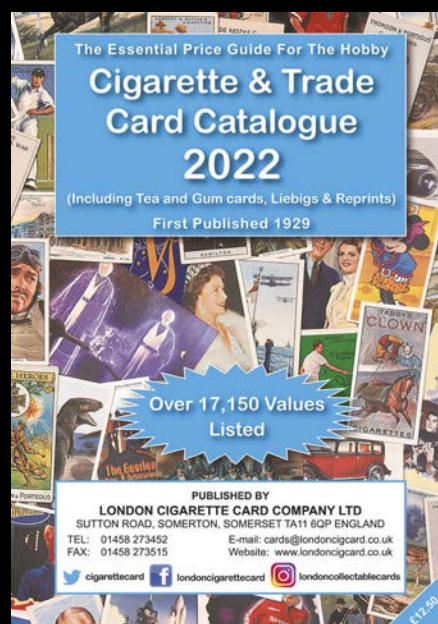

SPLAT haircare products recently released hair color kits based on The Suicide Squad movie, the latest DC movie offering. SPLAT had teamed up with DC previously to launch Suicide Squad hair colors that featured comics and stickers based on the property, but of interest to card collectors is a series of 16 cards featuring members of The Suicide Squad.

Specially marked boxes feature hair colors such as Luscious Raspberries for Harley Quinn and Pink Fetish featuring Ratcatcher 2. Blue Envy sporting Bloodsport is on the box, which is itself collectible with impressive graphics. Each box contains two cards in a yellow wrapper with The Suicide Squad logo. The cards each have a different colored border, each portraying a Squad member, while the backs contain an abstract image of the character on the card front. These were available at most major drug and retail stores such as Walmart and Target.

LONDON CIGARETTE CARD CO. PUBLISHES 2022 CIGARETTE & TRADE CARD CATALOGUE

First published in 1929, the London Cigarette Card Company recently released the 2022 edition of its Cigarette & Trade Card Catalogue, which contains information and pricing for over 17,150 sets, ranging from British and Foreign Tobacco cards to Trading Card issues from Tea and Gum manufacturers, such as Brooke Bond Tea, A&BC Gum and Topps. There are also twenty-eight pages that cover collecting supplies, including storage albums, reference books, and an index of card brands, card sizes, and a history of card collecting, among other features. A fascinating reference for enthusiasts of foreign trading cards; there are also over 150 full color illustrations. Information can be found at www.londoncigcard.co.uk. NSU

BLOODLINE

NSU LOOKS AT LINEAGE THROUGH CARDS

BY DON NORTON

Traditionally, the fall heralds the release of big budget films and while last year COVID-19 certainly put a damper on moviegoing, 2021 is back to normal (kind-of). Among this season's crop are a number of prequels, sequels and remakes, all of which have previously been featured on cards. Many of these new autumn films would surely make worthy trading card sets as well. Some manufacturers may even still hold licenses for some of these titles, so where are the cards? Well, the pandemic still slows down and complicates almost everything. Many companies seem to be more conservative about committing to new projects. So NSU takes a look back at some of the sets that were.

THE MANY SAINTS OF NEWARK (OCT. 1)

The adventures of Tony Soprano when he was a teen. Starring James Gandolfini's son, Michael, as Tony Soprano. Other cast include Ray Liotta, Jon Bernthal, and Vera Farmiga as Tony's (poor you) mother. Taking place in the 1960s and 70s, viewers will see what made Tony Soprano who he was in the HBO series.

Inkworks issued Sopranos: Season One in 2005. The 72-card base set plus various inserts were nicely done, but the hits, which consisted of eight autographs, were by redemption only. Furthermore, signers were mainly supporting cast. If Gandolfini or Edie Falco had signed, there may have been Sopranos Season 2.

Welcome to the Family

season one premium trading cards

The first episode aired on January 10, 1999, and The Sopranos instantly became a pop culture phenomenon. Inkworks brings all the drama, tension and action of the Season One episodes to a new 72-trading card series. This extraordinary ultra-premium release is printed on premium foilboard, giving every card a "chase card" look and feel.

Look for bonus cards to add to this instant classic:

- Autographs — To Be Announced
- 8 Card Foil Puzzle — "Family Matters" (inserted approx. 1:11 packs)
- 8 Foil Embossed Cards — "Le Belle Donne" the women in Tony's life. (inserted approx. 1:14 packs)
- Plus 3 box leaders and 1 case leader to add to the collectibility!

Also available is a rich collector album developed for this special Season One Premium Trading Card series!

JUNE 2005

NO TIME TO DIE (OCT. 8)

James Bond and cards have gone together since Philadelphia Chewing Gum's 1965 three movie set. Eclipse, Topps, and Graffiti/Inkworks have all had turns with 007, but it was Rittenhouse Archives that took Bond to new heights with coverage of all the films and a very complete list of signers. If Rittenhouse still held the license, a No Time to Die set would probably be in the works. The current Bond licensee, Upper Deck, has released two outstanding sets covering all the films, most recently James Bond Villains and Henchmen last September. If they do another, the new film would surely be included, but a dedicated set to Daniel Craig's latest Bond outing seems unlikely.

HALLOWEEN KILLS (OCT. 15)

It has been 43 years since the first Halloween film. Isn't it time for Michael Myers to get a real job, find a nice girl and settle down? Halloween Kills is the 12th film in the series. Jamie Lee Curtis appears as Laurie Strode for the 6th time, as she leads an angry vigilante group looking to destroy Michael once and for all.

Surprisingly, only recently a Halloween card set appeared. In 2019, Fright-Rags, known for their horror-themed T-Shirts and ...of the Dead trading cards, released John Carpenter's Halloween. Based on the first film, this is a nicely done 78-card set with checklist, nine-card puzzle, three autographs and some killer sketch cards (pun intended). One more film, Halloween Ends, is scheduled for the series in 2022, and an overview set of all the Halloween movies would be very cool.

DUNE (OCT. 22)

Frank Herbert's Dune is considered by some to be the finest science fiction novel ever written and a difficult novel to translate to film. In 1984, Director David Lynch released his version of Dune, which received unfavorable reviews. In 1989, Fleer gave collectors a large 132-card set with 44 stickers. In 2000, Frank Herbert's Dune, a Syfy Channel miniseries, premiered and was one of Syfy's highest rated series ever. In 2003, Rittenhouse Archives sold a limited boxed set, Dune—The Miniseries, consisting of 50 base cards, two costume cards and one autograph—Alec Newman as Paul Atreides.

The new Dune film had an early release in Europe to good reviews, and includes a stellar cast including Josh Brolin, Oscar Isaac, Jason Momoa, and Javier Bardem. Dune 2021 would make a great card set.

COMING SPRING, 2022

Downton Abbey: A New Era (Mar. 18)

The popularity of this series continues with a second theatrical film. The cast of the first film returns, including Michelle Dockery, Hugh Bonneville and Jim Carter, plus some new cast members. Maggie Smith may make an appearance as well. Originally intended for a Christmas release on December 22, the premiere was moved back to March 18.

There was only one card release based on Downton Abbey, Cryptozoic's

2014 Downton Abbey Series 1 & 2. A beautiful 126-card set, which included a cigarette card-sized parallel subset. Costumes, sketches, and 14 autographs made this very popular with fans. Sadly, Cryptozoic never followed up with another release.

GHOSTBUSTERS: AFTERLIFE (NOV. 12)

This is the third film in the franchise, with many of the original cast from the 1984 film. Ghostbusters has appeared on cards twice. In 1989 Topps provided an 88-card base set along with 11 stickers, based on Ghostbusters II. These came in packs or as a factory set.

In 2016, Cryptozoic Entertainment's Ghostbuster set covered both films as well as a nod to the Ghostbusters animated TV series. Fifty-four cards, plus several insert sets—Slime cards, Cel cards and Patch cards, complete the collection. Nineteen autographs round out, including Dan Ackroyd, Annie Potts, Ernie Hudson, Ivan Reitman (Director), and even Larry King. A new set based on Afterlife could give fans a chance on Bill Murray or Sigourney Weaver.

ON THE NOT-SO-SMALL-ANYMORE SCREEN

Successful TV shows often turn up down the road as sequels or reboots. This season is no different and here are a few that have been seen on cards before:

4400 (CW)

The 2004 series about the mysterious disappearance of 4400 people returns, and so do the 4400 people, all dropped off in Detroit, with no memory of where they were. The original show ran for four seasons and ended in a cliffhanger, so this new series should tie up loose ends. Inkworks gave collectors two sets based The 4400, Season 1 in 2006 and Season 2 in 2007. The first set was 72-cards, the second 81, and both sets featured foil puzzles, costume cards and a total of 18 autographs.

CSI: Vegas (CBS)

The original CSIs are back! William Peterson and Jorja Fox return to their old lab to aid a former colleague accused of evidence tampering.

Beginning in 2003, UK based Strictly Ink released a series of great CSI sets, with three sets for the original series, and releases for spinoffs CSI: Miami and CSI: New York. Almost all major cast signed, plus there were sketches, costumes and hits such as casino chip cards.

SPIDER-MAN: NO WAY HOME (DEC. 17)

This is a sequel to Spider-Man: Far from Home and brings back Tom Holland as fans' favorite web-shooter. The film also features Benedict Cumberbatch as Dr. Strange and Alfred Molina as Doc Octopus, among many others. Numerous Spider-Man sets exist by Comic Images, Fleer and Rittenhouse, with the most recent in 2017 by Upper Deck, the current license holder. It was a beautiful set covering the Spider-Man saga. Collectors are overdue for a set based on a specific film.

By now, most these films are in theaters and readers may even have seen them, thinking they would work well on cards. Great casts can translate to great autographs, and some of these films cry out for sketch cards. A few of these films will get away, but some may not. Most of the sets mentioned above were created years after the films, so it is not impossible that two or four or forty years from now, some of these movies will be immortalized on cardboard. NSU

Dexter: New Blood (Showtime)

Everyone's most beloved serial killer, played by Michael C. Hall, turns up in a small New York town. Running from 2006 to 2013, some consider the finale in the eighth season a disappointment. Dexter: New Blood is a chance for a proper ending. Breygent Marketing gave fans complete coverage of all eight seasons of Dexter in five sets beginning in 2009. Major cast were frequent signers and there were some very creative prop cards.

PARKS & RECREATION

In Wilderness is the Preservation of the World—Fascinating Cards Preserves
US National Parks in Trading Cards

BY RUDY PANUCCI

YELLOWSTONE
PARK

The United States currently has 63 National Parks, Congressionally-designated areas protected from development and exploitation due to their natural beauty, unique geological features, diverse ecosystems, and recreational opportunities. Fascinating Cards, the folks who previously brought the US Congress Trading Cards, are working on an ambitious card set devoted to the beauty and majesty of the United States' National Parks.

The first National Park, Yellowstone, was created by Congress in 1872, and in 1916 The National Park Service was established to "to conserve the scenery and the natural and historic objects and wildlife therein, and to provide for the enjoyment of the same in such manner and by such means as will leave them unimpaired for the enjoyment of future generations." Fascinating Cards plans to tackle this project with a huge card set, devoting four cards to each National Park, with an additional relic card set featuring the National Parks Quarters (see sidebar).

NATIONAL TREASURES

Eric Paulson, the Founder and guiding light of Fascinating Cards, tells NSU why he chose this topic for a card set, "Growing up, I was a big collector of sports cards, but I was always intrigued by non-sports cards and wished that there was a bigger variety available. When I was about 10 years old, my grandmother gifted me her collection of Panarizon Story of America cards, which were available by mail order from 1979-1981. Thirty years later I started thinking about how cool those were, and that's where the idea was born.

I started my company a little over a year ago and produced a set of US Congress trading cards, followed by another US Congress set this year. Due to the awesome feedback and success of these cards, I've decided to begin branching out into other topics. I figured that National Parks would be a great place to start! Since National Parks are government-owned, there is plenty of public-domain information and media that I can use to make the cards interesting and beautiful."

With a total of 252 cards in the base set alone, Paulson has an epic collection to compile, and there is no shortage of amazing images available for use on the cards. Each card will feature an iconic image on the front, with a description of the image and some historical context on the back, along with a smaller alternate image.

As an example, Paulson supplied a list of the four cards for Yellowstone National Park:

Card 1: Park Overview

Card 2: Grand Prismatic Spring

Card 3: Old Faithful Geyser

Card 4: Lamar Valley

The Old Faithful Geyser card will feature an image of the geyser on the front, along with the card set title, the subtitle and the card's name, plus logos for The National Park Service and Yellowstone.

The back of the Old Faithful Geyser card will include a smaller image, along with the following description: "Discovered in 1870 by the Washburn Expedition, Old Faithful Geyser was named for its frequent and somewhat predictable eruptions, which number more than a million since Yellowstone became the world's first national park in 1872. Old Faithful can vary in height from 100-180 feet with an average near 130-140 feet. This has been the historical range of its recorded height. Eruptions normally last between 1.5 to 5 minutes."

COVERING THE PARKS WITH CARDS

Fascinating Cards is not the first company to produce a trading card set dedicated to the US National Parks. Countless trading card series have been devoted to the national wonders on an individual basis and as a whole. From the first trade card set devoted to Yellowstone in the 1890s to Upper Deck's 2018 Goodwin Champions Vintage Map Relic Cards, the natural beauty of the National Parks has been an irresistible topic for trading cards.

One of the most interesting producers of National Parks trading cards was The National Park Service itself. To mark 150 years since the Civil War, The National Park Service created, beginning in 2011, Civil War to Civil Rights cards, with over 500 cards available at over 90 National Parks and historic sites.

The catch is, enthusiasts couldn't buy them. Kids had to do something to earn the cards, which were then given to them, free of charge. Each site had unique cards, with some offering as few as two, and some as many as 30. To get a complete set, collectors would have to visit each location.

With the cards aimed at kids, and no easy way to compile a complete set, Civil War to Civil Rights flew under the radar of most non-sport hobbyists. The series has been discontinued, but can be viewed online at the National Park Service's Flickr site (<https://www.flickr.com/photos/tradingcardsnpsyahooom/> albums). While Civil War to Civil Rights is officially ended, many national parks and historic sites still have cards available; fans just have to go and get them.

PACKING UP THE PARKS

U.S. National Parks Trading Cards should be a stunning set, with the full beauty of the National Parks system on display. This is one of those rare “educational” card sets that will be as entertaining as it is informative, and it might even inspire some collectors to get out and visit these national treasures while they can.

U.S. National Parks Trading Cards will initially be sold through the Fascinating Cards website (<https://fascinating.cards/>). There are plans to produce a more extended run in the future, with annual updates and perhaps wider distribution, including in some National Parks themselves. In addition to the base set and the National Parks Quarter Relic Cards, there are also plans for foil variants, with the details for those still being determined as NSU goes to press.

There will be 10 cards per pack, 18 packs per box, and eight boxes per case. For this first run, only 148 boxes will be produced. It will take an average of 2.5 boxes to get a complete set. A very limited number of complete sets will be available from the Fascinating Cards website. NSU

THE NATIONAL PARKS QUARTERS RELIC CARDS

One of the cool elements of Fascinating Cards' U.S. National Parks Trading Cards are the relic cards featuring the America The Beautiful Quarters. These are quarters featuring alternate designs on the backs of the coins that spotlight national parks and other national sites as part of the United States Mint America the Beautiful Quarters Program. It's similar to the States Quarters that were a big success for the US Mint a decade earlier.

Details are still being worked out, but the plan at press time was for each park to have five different quarter relic cards. Every park did not get a quarter devoted to it in the America the Beautiful Quarters Program, and seven of the quarters depicted National Forests instead of National Parks, so all the details aren't yet known, but whatever form it takes, the National Parks Quarters Relic Cards will add a cool crossover element to U.S. National Parks Trading Cards.

10 ONLINE-EXCLUSIVE RELEASES

BY RYAN CRACKNELL

One of the biggest hobby evolutions over the last few years has been the expansion of online-exclusive releases. Topps has gone all-in with print-on-demand products, typically mini releases available for only a short period of time. Upper Deck has taken advantage of their e-Pack platform to not only deliver packs of their mainstream products but also to offer some as exclusives that never got a traditional box release. Here's a look at ten 2021 online-exclusive releases from both companies that you may not have heard of or need a reminder to go back and look at picking some up.

10. CLOAK AND DAGGER

Upper Deck continues to go deep into Marvel TV and films, even when the shows themselves aren't that big. Taking a similar approach to their earlier Agent Carter and Runaways releases, they kept things simple with just autographs and sketch cards and distribution on e-Pack. Although most of the signers aren't likely to become major names, both of the shows' leads are on the checklist. Olivia Holt is definitely the one to keep an eye on should her career continue to gain momentum.

9. STAR WARS: VISIONS

Topps turned to their Topps Now imprint for the anime anthology series of shorts on Disney+. Each of the nine episodes received its own five-card set. Considering it's Star Wars, print runs are on the low side ranging from 461 to 665 sets sold. Like the anime they're based on, art styles vary and the cards help introduce some new characters.

8. MARVEL UNBOUND

Upper Deck is doing the ultimate slow roll for Marvel Unbound. From start to finish, the set will take almost two years to release. Featuring artwork from Fred Ian, there's a Marvel Masterpieces vibe to the set. Once complete, the set will have 100 cards with one released per week on e-Pack. Base cards are limited to 999 numbered copies. Ian also signed 50 of each card.

7. WACKY PACKAGES MONTHLY SERIES

For much of 2020, Topps dropped small batches of new Wacky Packages every week. They changed things up this year, opting for larger monthly sets. Besides new base cards each month, chase cards are also in the mix including Wacky-inspired playing cards.

6. STAR WARS: THE HIGH REPUBLIC

On the surface, the Topps On-Demand release for Star Wars: The High Republic might not be the most exciting set of the year. But as the franchise shifts into a new era, it could be important for offering the first cards of some central new characters. The 20-card set draws largely from High Republic novels and comics, the main launching point for this new corner of the far away galaxy. Besides a base set, packs came with either one of five cover inserts or a base parallel numbered to 25 or less. A total of 1,180 packs were sold.

4. BLACK WIDOW

Like the film it's based on, Black Widow trading cards aren't getting a traditional release. Upper Deck took it straight to e-Pack, using a hybrid format that's drawn out but with a variety of insert elements. There was a new pack of four cards every week for 18 weeks. Inside was one base card and one of two different short prints exclusive to that week. Other chase elements, which include further short prints, thematic inserts and costume cards, are spread across the entire run. There's a limit of 999 packs each week.

2. GARBAGE PAIL KIDS KRAHERS SERIES 2

Cars and Garbage Pail Kids were mashed up once again for GPK Krashers Series 2. Based on a concept from Joe Simko, cards mix classic characters with Kustom Culture designs reminiscent of Rat Fink and Topps' own Weird Wheels. Each of the 2,504 packs sold came with a full base set plus a small number of chase cards. Sketch cards were 1:3 packs.

5. LIL WAYNE: THA CARTER IV 10TH ANNIVERSARY

Rap music has been very sparsely represented in trading cards over the years. There have been some here and there, but nothing consistent. That didn't stop Topps from partnering with Lil Wayne for a 20-card set commemorating the anniversary of his album, Tha Carter IV. Sold in pack form, each has eight cards and originally cost $19.99. Both parallels and autographs were randomly inserted in packs.

3. AVATAR: THE LAST AIRBENDER

With some online-only releases, they take you by surprise. Such was the case with Topps' Avatar: The Last Airbender set. Highlighting the characters from the popular anime series, it came with a pack format similar to Topps' Lil Wayne set. Each pack has nine base cards and one numbered parallel. With 20 cards, it'd take great collation and three packs to build a full base set. The set has a print run of 4,750 packs.

1. METAZOO CRYPTID NATION SERIES 0

One unscientific way to measure interest in an on-line product is how stable the site selling it is upon its release. MetaZoo's first traditional trading cards release didn't just slow Topps.com, it pretty much brought it down. Based on the trading card game co-created by Steve Aoki, unopened boxes quickly soared on the secondary market, more than doubling their original price. It's an example of how a product that might not be known to the masses, even in non-sport circles, has the ability to bring in big new audiences. Don't be surprised if 2022 brings more collaborations between Topps and MetaZoo. NSU

HARTTOWN, PA. 19083

In the early days of ephemera, free trading cards were packaged with other products, like cigarettes, as an incentive to purchase. Once cards started selling on their own, manufacturers began looking for ways to create additional revenue streams through the advertising they could incorporate into packs.

In the forties and before, wrapper ads weren't really much of a consideration, largely coming to life in the 1950s. In 1953 World on Wheels, Topps inserted a one sheet flyer advertising a 1,000 prize contest, with wins including items like a Beacon Camera and an 'English Style' bicycle. The flyer stated, "read these wrappers for rules," which called for boys and girls to finish the last line of a Topps-provided jingle in a "giant Bazooka Bubble Gum contest." Hopeful kids could then send in their entry along with five penny Bazooka Comics or one 5¢ Bazooka Comic. The pitch slyly required Topps gum purchases in addition to the Topps cards already bought.

Topps varied this theme in 1957 by seeding Robin Hood packs with a Lucky Penny card, which proclaimed, "Lucky You! Get this Lucky Penny Charm and Key Chain FREE! Holds your Keys. Keeps Money in your pocket. Brings you luck." Backs instructed kids to send in either one Bazooka or one Blony gum wrapper. Pictured on the card back were colorful illustrations of Bazooka Joe with his crew for Bazooka and Archie, Veronica and Betty for Blony. While Lucky Penny cards are relatively easy to find, the prize keychain & charm they advertised are not.

A TEENIE BEANIE

Eventually, 1950s manufacturers found placing an ad on a pack's exterior wrapper flap gave visibility even before the cards were purchased. While some, like Topps 1959 Wacky Plaks, simply gave instructions on how to use the pack's contents, others, like 1955 Rails and Sails, 1956 Davy Crockett, and 1957 Gee Whiz Quiz (aka Isolation Booth), advertised gum. Flier's 1959 Three Stooges was one of the first to actually offer a themed premium. The ad read: "Official Three Stooges Beanie. Attractive! 2 colors with picture of 3 stooges! Send 50¢ and 5 Dubble Bubble outer wrappers. DO NOT SEND 3 STOOGES WRAPPERS. Not sold in stores."

Exclamation mark-laden wrapper ads diversified more in the 1960s, with numerous low cost kid-enticing items available for a minimal charge, usually with gum wrapper submittal. Fleer's 1960 Spins & Needles, for example, touted "Unbreakable 45 r.p.m. hit records, top artists, major labels, 98¢ regular value. Choose (A) Popular, (B) Country & Western, (C) Rhythm & Blues. Satisfaction guaranteed or your money back. Send 2 Spins & Needles wrappers plus 25¢ for each."

In 1965, Philadelphia Gum hawked a 007 Badge with it's James Bond set. "For your Free JAMES BOND 007 Badge," the ad declared, "send only 5 JAMES BOND Bubble Gum wrappers and a self-addressed, stamped (5¢ stamp) envelope. Send no money!"

In 1968, the daytime TV soap, Dark Shadows, was such a bonafide hit that Philly Gum offered this collector's item with their Dark Shadows Green set for those who dared: "Official Barnabas Ring fits any finger size only 50¢ with 5 Barnabas Bubble Gum Wrappers."

Donruss advertised a practical (if you were going there) Disneyland Map on its 1965 wrapper: "Extra large 45 inches by 30 inches multi-colored map with pictures and locations of rides, exhibits, and displays at Disneyland. You will want to take this map with you when you visit Disneyland. Yours for only 50¢ and 5 Disneyland Bubble Gum wrappers."

Products unrelated to a particular card set appeared on wrappers as well, with the same ad often printed on wrappers for a variety of sets. Likewise, many sets had wrappers with various ads, offering today's wrapper collector the option to amass wrapper variations for a single card set.

Here are four varied examples of unrelated ads:

One of the odder objects offered on wrapper flaps came from 1966 Batman—Ridderback set. Culturally offensive by today's standards, the item was probably a big hit with kids who played Cowboys and Indians.

BOND GO BOOM!

Philadelphia Gum's second James Bond card set, 1966 The Incredible World of James Bond (aka Thunderball) offered a mail away item that sounded a lot more dangerous than it actually was:

Official James Bond 007 Exploding Code Book
"Booby Trap" code book explodes when opened by unauthorized persons!
Only 75¢ with 5 James Bond Bubble Gum wrappers.

TO: BARNABAS Dept. D
P.O. BOX 801, HAVERTOWN, PA. 19083

WRAP IT UP

Occasionally, wrappers would dedicate their advertising space to the cards that were within the pack. 1962 Topps Mars Attacks, 1963 Topps Monster Midgee cards and 1964 Topps Monsters From Outer Limits are prime examples. Donruss' 1966 Monkees B wrapper asked fans to mark and send in the wrapper as a ballot to "vote for your favorite Monkee." In addition to giving detailed instructions on how to use the enclosed 3D viewer, 1953 Topps Tarzan and the She Devil wrapper flap yelled, "Follow the Adventures of Tarzan at your Local Theater."

The oddest thing about these wrapper send aways is that they are almost never seen today. Locating one, especially if it's themed to an individual card set, would allow collectors to exclaim they possessed a true master set. NSU

FOR MIKE STEPHENS, MARTIAL AND CREATIVE ARTS MAKE THE PERFECT MIX

What do you get when you mix a full-time graphic designer with a 4th degree black belt? Mike Stephens, an owner of a martial arts gym in western Colorado who's known for his horror-themed sketch cards. When Mike isn't teaching or drawing, he's probably out riding four wheelers with his family.

Non-Sport Update: How did you get started in sketch cards?

Mike Stephens: Back in 2017 I saw an artist posting hand-drawn Garbage Pail Kids on his Instagram page. I was intrigued because I had grown up collecting GPK. I had never seen sketch cards before and had no idea that there was this community of artists dedicating their craft to these small masterpieces. I reached out to him and he put me in touch with the Art Director of Topps. After submitting my portfolio, I received my first invite to draw for 2018 Star Wars: Galactic Files.

NSU: You're known for taking a horror spin on licenses like Garbage Pail Kids. Tell us how that evolved.

MS: Ever since I was a little kid in the '80s I was into slasher films and monster comics. I won an art contest as a kid by drawing Freddy Krueger and that began a lifelong obsession with horror art. My first Garbage Pail Kids job with Topps was Oh the Horror-ible! I knew from that moment forward I wanted to keep my focus on the dark-toned art as well as bring my detail-orientated portraiture style to the sketch cards. As time went on, collectors have shown they really have an appetite for the horror-themed cards.

NSU: What are the rules to blending pop culture with Garbage Pail Kids?

MS: Sketch artists don't generally get to create new characters, and there are certain brands that Topps will not allow their licenses to be mixed with when it comes to sketch cards. For instance, Universal Monsters, and anything related to Star Wars, is forbidden due to licensing. But, as long as you adhere to those guidelines, they really let you exercise creativity with your art.

NSU: You drew sketch cards for two recent Star Wars sets. What Star Wars characters do you like to draw most?

MS: I definitely enjoy working on Star Wars. Topps typically will outline which movies/shows can be illustrated in each individual set, as they are all very different. However, shirtless Kylo Ren, and a gun facing the "camera," will always get rejected by Lucasfilm. My favorite character to draw is Darth Maul!

NSU: When you draw sketch cards for a movie or TV franchise, such as Stranger Things, do you feel the pressure to catch up on the show in advance?

MS: Yes, I'll always try and watch or read whatever I'm working on to get a feel for the style of the brand. When I worked on Stranger Things I had already been watching Season 2, so I was in the "zone" when the cards reached my desk. With Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles I was tasked with making the art a throw-back to the original issues of the comic, so I had to scramble around and buy reprints of the original series to make sure the art didn't look like the '80s cartoon instead. It's pretty cool having a job that is made easier by watching movies and reading comics!

NSU: Do you have a dream property that you wish to draw sketch cards for?

MS: If I had to choose a single set that would make me drop everything else to work on it'd be a Disney Villain set. There's just so many places you could take those characters.

NSU: Tell us more about what you do when you're not drawing.

MS: Besides sketch cards, I work as a full-time illustrator/senior graphic designer. I spend a lot of my time illustrating yearbook covers for schools. I've also been busy doing publication work with magazines and comics—something that has been a goal of mine since I was a kid. In my "free time" I also love running my martial arts gym with our staff. We've been in business for a decade this year and have a large student base. To me, martial arts is just another creative outlet.

NSU: Are there any upcoming projects you're allowed to share with us?

MS: Just recently I did some illustration work with Freaky magazine, which is an offshoot of Mad magazine. I'm also in the midst of a big movie project that I can't discuss publicly quite yet, but it's some of the most fun ever!

NSU: How can people follow you?

MS: The best way to connect with me is through my Facebook page (Mike Stephens Illustration) or my Instagram page (@mstephensart). My commission list is usually months out at a time, so getting on the list for future sets is always the best way to secure a card.

NSU: We're impressed you've been able to juggle so much, and your cards are beautiful. We would never say anything disparaging about your art, especially because you have a black belt. Thanks again! NSU

INSIDE BASEBALL

WILL
GIVE TOPPS A
GRAND SLAM?

BY ARNOLD BAILEY

The baseball card market has been left wondering what lies ahead for Topps after the company lost future exclusive licenses to produce the cards that have long been the foundation of its longevity and financial success. Non-sport collectors should do some wondering, too.

COMING OUT OF LEFT FIELD

That's the situation after Major League Baseball and the Players Association awarded exclusive contracts to another company and, in effect, broke the seven-decade long relationship that made Topps synonymous with the national pastime. That relationship is due to end in 2022 for player images and in 2026 for team logos. Similar changes are coming for football and basketball cards, too, and hockey won't be far behind.

Shock was the most frequent reaction when the news broke that a company named Fanatics would assume the rights to produce baseball cards picturing current players. That Fanatics is the marketing arm of Major League Baseball added another aspect of the lucrative but changing trading card market.

In the past, non-sport collectors have discovered some unexpected treats and treasures in some of Topps' baseball sets, especially the American Pie and Allen & Ginter offerings. And interesting non-sport subjects also have been part of Topps' Heritage, Co-Signers and Archives baseball series.

SPORTING NON-SPORTS

Topps not only added non-sport topics to some of its baseball card sets but also did the reverse, adding sports subjects to a few non-sport sets. Often baseball legend Babe Ruth was the addition.

Look 'N' See in 1952 included baseball Ruth (card #15) with an elite group of classy ladies that included Cleopatra, (#44), Dolley Madison (#135) and Queen Elizabeth II (#104). The Babe would have loved that trio.

Topps' 1967 Who Am I?, a strange Topps issue based on disguises, also had the Babe (#12), but this time along with other baseball legends like Mickey Mantle (#33), Willie Mays (#33) and Sandy Koufax (#41). Ruth would have felt right at home with the Mick and the "Say-Hey Kid" but he might have called for a pinch hitter rather than face the tough lefty Koufax's pitching.

1953's Who-Z-At-Star included one of the greatest competitive swimmers ever in Esther Williams (#49), though by then this world-class aqua-athlete had become an aqua-musical movie star who, in 1950, was the fifth most popular actress on Hollywood's big screen.

CAN TOPPS STILL BAT 1,000?

What's ahead for Topps? Some envision the company being purchased by Fanatics which, with its $18-billion value, certainly has the money available. Fanatics did just that when it bought Majestic, a big producer of sports uniforms. First, Fanatics was awarded licenses to make the uniforms and related items. Then it bought Majestic, the former licensee. It was an outcome not unlike the purchase decades ago by Topps of its chief competitor, Bowman.

Or, Topps could try to sign individual big league players, which is highly unlikely. Or, the company could focus on minor league players and/or retired players, a more likely target. This approach could allow Topps to continue to include a bit of baseball in, at the very least, its American Pie and Allen & Ginter series.

Or, Topps could focus on college athletes, which is also unlikely. Or, the company could build on its dominance with soccer cards, especially with World Cup events on the horizon. Or they could continue to build its digital focus on NFTs (non-fungible tokens).

Or, Topps could refocus more drastically and become an even larger producer of non-sport cards, a growing market in which the company already is a major producer. That may be more of a possibility as time goes by.

Baseball has been Topps' most profitable continuing product, so successful that it has allowed the company to move into other sports and also into the non-sport market, since entering the latter with a Hopalong Cassidy cowboy card series in 1950. Since Hoppy rode into card town, Topps has produced scores of non-sport sets, including some of the most popular among collectors. And Hoppy was a financial success, too. And, two other titles—Star Wars and Pokemon—actually outproduced baseball financially for a few years.

How popular are some of Topps' non-sport card sets? In a July 2016 report, four of the top five most popular non-sport sets on the PSA registry were produced by Topps.

Tops from Topps was Civil War News, a controversial 1962 series that had 106 sets registered five years ago. Another

BEATLES FOR SALE

From the beginning, Topps took seriously its role in the world of non-sport cards. That dedication was obvious when, in 1964, the gum company sent its biggest gun to London. That's when Topps' legendary leader, Sy Berger, crossed the big pond to negotiate a contract with The Beatles.

How did Sy do? Are seven Topps Beatles card sets enough? There's a black-and-white issue comprised of three series totaling 165 cards, a 64-card color set, a so-called Diary series of 60 cards, a set of 55 unusual Beatles Plaks, and 55 cards based on the Fab Four's hit movie, A Hard Day's Night. Then add Canadian versions of the color and black-and-white sets with the familiar O-Pee-Chee label. And all produced in 1964. That's some serious card making!

1962 Topps issue, Mars Attacks, was second best with 101. The 1977 Topps Star Wars series was fourth with 75, and the 1966 Topps Batman Black Bat fifth with 72. The only non-Topps set on the list was The Three Stooges basic set by Fleer in 1959, listed third with 91 on the PSA register.

That's the kind of performance, in terms of both popularity and financial rewards, that if pursued more aggressively could help Topps build on its already strong reputation in the non-sport hobby.

Expanding beyond its non-sport legacy titles could offer additional opportunities.

Still chairman at Topps is Michael Eisner and his presence and his network of contacts could help make the company even more active in the non-sport market. Eisner had been CEO of the Disney empire and during his 21-year career with Mickey, Minnie and the gang he grew that company into a global entertainment empire.

How many non-sport sets could a Topps-Disney partnership yield? Certainly enough to dominate the future want lists of many non-sport collectors. NSU

AS AMERICAN AS...

One of the most popular examples of Topps inclusion of non-sport subjects within a baseball card set came in 2001 with Topps Baseball American Pie.

The first 150 cards picture baseball players from the past, from Al Kaline who resembled a Hall of Famer even as a Tigers rookie to Rick Reuschel who looked too portly to be an effective pitcher but still won 214 games and is in the Cubs Hall of Fame.

Then come 25 cards portraying world events, ranging from the assassination of President John F. Kennedy to flower power. Next come 10 personalities ranging from Marilyn Monroe to Richard Nixon, which is an awful lot of range.

Finally, add several types of chase cards, most of them (153) picturing baseball players but ending with a few great entertainers like Frank Sinatra and Janis Joplin. That's called strengthening the national pastime with several other entertaining ways to pass the time.

Then, Topps did it all again the next year with a different flavor of American Pie.

GI JOKES

Mark Pingitore, a master artist with over 100 Garbage Pail Kids illustrations under his belt, has a new, independently-released series in the works. This time he's turning his focus on skewering another 1980s nostalgia property, GI Joe.

GI Jokes Series 3 is a full set that actually includes the previously-released Series 1 and 2. This full-box release is due out in January, and can be pre-ordered at Pingitore's Magic Marker Art website, <https://magicmarkerart.storenvy.com>.

GI Jokes Series 3 will have instant crossover appeal with the robust GI Joe collecting community, and of course fans of Garbage Pail Kids will be intrigued as well. With characters like "Dull Duke," "Commandin' Bradon," and "Serpent Tory," fans know they're getting some primo pop culture parody here.

Following a familiar format, each box will feature 45 fully painted stickers, with "a" and "b" versions, for a total of 90 different die-cut, vintage cardstock stickers. That's offered along with an exclusive box poster, one 1/1 printing plate, and two foil prism cards per pack. The fully-illustrated box folds out like a classic counter display.

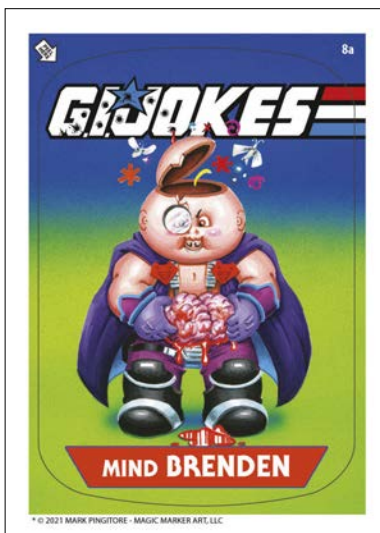

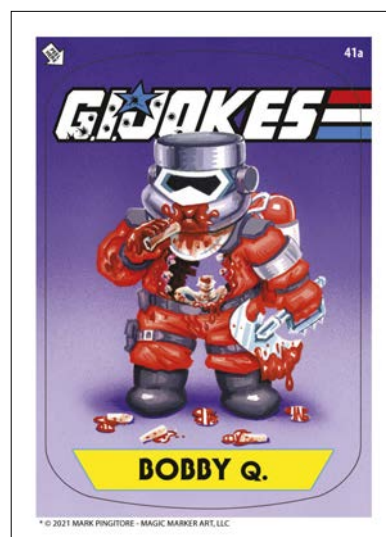

Series One makes up the first nine stickers, Series Two the next nine cards, and Series Three delivers the next 27. The first two series were originally released as blank back vinyl stickers, but here they will be fully illustrated, front and back, and printed on vintage-style sticker/cardstock. The art on the backs of the cards for the entire set will include Checklists, Puzzles and "VILE" Cards.

Mark Pingitore explains the idea behind this set, "G.I. Jokes is another series like Disasters of the Universe that parodies some of the favorite toy lines I collected as a kid, mixed with '80s trading cards."

With crossover appeal, a limited print run, Pingitore's art and a classic format, collectors know that GI Jokes Series 3 will sell out quick.

And knowing is half the battle.

MONSTERS FROM HELL 2

This time last year, NSU pre-viewed what was then to be the latest horrific set from venerable card manufacturer, Monsterwax. However, with COVID being COVID, things didn't pan out quite as smoothly as expected. That being said, all systems are now go for a truly monstrous release.

Coming in late December, Monsterwax will be launching a Kickstarter Campaign for Monsters From Hell 2, a sequel to the 2019 Monsters From Hell, which was successfully funded on Kickstarter by nearly 1400%.

Returning from the first series is the legendary Spanish painter who goes by the name Obelix Hell Art, which sort of makes him a natural for this card set. He'll be handling the 80 new base cards. There will also be ten "monster metal" cards and two lenticular cards (one a motion card, the other a 3-D card). Plus there will be sketch cards from Monsterwax's roster of favorite sketch artists.

Further subsets depend on whether or not stretch goals are met during the campaign. Judging from the performance of the first Monsters From Hell, that doesn't appear to be too much to expect.

As with the first series, the card backs will tell a wild sci-fi/horror story. Monsterwax's Kurt Kuersteiner opened up about this set, "This is the final series and will reveal a lot of answers to the mysteries encountered in the first installment. As you recall, the first series was coincidentally released during the same month that COVID was first discovered, and both plagues had many eerie similarities. Let's hope that is NOT the case with the second series because—spoiler alert—things get much more DICEY!"

Collector's should look for the Kickstarter campaign in late December (with a possible delay to early January). The first installment of Monsters From Hell can be found at their website, <http://www.monsterwax.com>.

MONSTERS, ALIENS & WITCHES

If it's one thing that collectors miss, it's Breygent Marketing, a company known for their high quality cards, with then current topics as varied as TV's Dexter and Bates Motel to nostalgic properties like The Three Stooges and Vampirella. After a several year absence, Tom Breyer is back with a new company, appropriately named T.Breyer Unique.

Breyer's debut product is Monsters, Aliens & Witches, a set consisting of PVC Super Thick Trading Cards, PVC Super Thick Sketch Cards, Metal Sketch Cards, Coin Embedded Cards and, of course, traditional promo cards. For this November project, Breyer developed collectible 24k gold plated, colorized technique JFK half dollar coins embedded in a sketch card. Some of the well known artists contributing include Brian Kong, Dan Gorman, Darren Auck, Gary Kezele, Laura Inglis, Matt Stewart, Rhiannon Owens, Rusty Gillian, Scott Rorie, and Tim Shay, with tons more adding their own special artist touches.

Other T.Breyer Unique cards to look forward to in November—Golden Age of Dare and Deluxe Coins & PVC Cards. Monsters, Aliens & Witches on JFK coins? If that's not unique, what is? NSU

UPDATE

WHAT'S LISTED

Products listed in the Price Guide typically:

- Are produced by licensed manufacturers
- Are widely available
- Have market activity on single items

HOW IT'S LISTED

The sort order of the checklists are somewhat unique. All sets are listed 1) alphabetically then 2) chronologically. However, some exceptions have been made to further accommodate the reader. For instance, when it comes to recurring series, television seasons or film franchises and their sequels, all checklists will be grouped together in the same block. For example, if a reader was looking for sets devoted to James Bond or Harry Potter, they would find all sets devoted to these franchises in the same block. They would be listed chronologically while still adhering to the alphabetization of the entire section.

WHAT THE COLUMNS MEAN

The LO and HI columns reflect current retail selling ranges. The HI column on the right generally represents the full retail selling price. The LO column on the left generally represents the lowest price one would expect to find with extensive shopping.

MULTIPLIERS

Parallel sets and lightly traded insert sets are listed with multipliers to provide values of unlisted cards. Multiplier ranges (i.e. 20X to 40X) apply only to the HI column. Example: If base card A lists for 20 to 50 cents, and the multiplier is "20X to 40X," then the parallel version of card A or the insert card in question is valued at $10 to $20.

PRICING PREMIUMS

Some cards can trade at premium price levels compared to values listed in this issue. Those include but are not limited to: cards that became hot since this issue went to press, fan favorites (such as Harrison Ford) who may be in high demand, and memorabilia cards with unusually dramatic swatches, props, or patches.

STATED ODDS AND PRINT RUNS

Odds of pulling inserts are listed as a ratio (1:12 = 1 in 12 packs). If the odds vary by pack type, they are listed separately.

Stated odds are provided by the manufacturer based on the entire print run and should not be viewed as a guarantee by neither Beckett Media nor the manufacturer.

GRADING

All cards in the price guide are based on NrMint to Mint condition. Damaged cards are generally sold for 25 to 75 percent of Mint value.

CURRENCY

This price guide is intended to reflect the entire North American market. While not all of the cards are produced in the United States, they will reflect the market value in U.S. dollars.

ONLY A REFERENCE

The data and pricing information contained within this publication is intended for reference only and is not to be used as an endorsement of any specific product(s) or as a recommendation to buy or sell any product(s). Beckett's goal is to provide the most accurate and verifiable information in the industry. However, Beckett cannot guarantee the accuracy of all data published. Typographical errors occasionally occur and unverifiable information may reach print from time to time.
